Sorry Ellie. Truly, I am not a conspiracy person, but do you think this person may be connected to someone in the Trump Regime/MAGA? As you know, they want to bury Epstein. So you must do what you need to do to stay safe.

Your readers are standing by you and with you. Thank you for doing what you are doing. You are our Hero!

#1 Important Issue-Epstein!

Americans deserve better.

Without tracking them down, there is no way of knowing for sure. Stay in communication with other journalists, as this person may show up attacking others as well.

johnny · johnny · 4d · Happy to help, I work in cyber. I recommend robust passwords (at least 15 characters) or passphrases for ANY accounts, whether it's email, social media, banking, etc. You should also be using multifactor authentication where possible on all your sensitive accounts(Google's Authenticator works well if you have a choice).

Keep in mind that your texts / SMS (short message service) is an ancient protocol, so your iPhone & Android cell messages are NOT encrypted. Use more secure apps like Signal. Be judicious about sharing your location/ photos online - many of these can be geotagged. Always check "location sharing" defaults on your mobile apps Change, I agree.

But Ellie is on the front line and is shaking the bushes (thank God).

I have always believed that Epstein would bring down the Trump Regime.

I am betting on Ellie Leonard and her investigations to open the door that will lead to Truth and Accountability.

Oh @Ellie Leonard what a terrible experience you've had to endure. It's so easy for me to say this, but your work is fundamental to the cause and it's no surprise you're now a personal target - In fact it's a surprise you've not had this before, your work is of such great merit the extreme harassment was bound to happen sooner or later.

I'm glad others have stepped up and that you've come out fighting. It's selfish of me to say keep going keep going keep going, but I'm saying it anyway. Your strength and courage are exactly what's needed by the survivors; how they've relied of so many others, self interested parties who've now fallen by the wayside and stabbed them in the back on the way downwards. You are a shining example of truth and honesty and in the end that's more important than anything on this corrupt, vile, disgusting earth we find ourselves forced to endure - you mean everything to all of us especially the survivors.

Irena, you are so right! Ellie, because of your integrity, strength and dedication to truth and justice, you are our light in the tunnel right now. Like Irena, I feel selfish even saying this; who am I to encourage you to continue operating in the face of danger? But I, too, will encourage you anyway. I believe in you. I believe in good over evil, and I believe that - at the end of the day - truth will win. Ellie, you are a truth warrior. You will win.

Dawn, The more I read this post from Ellie the more I thought it WAS SOMEONE IN THE ADMINISTRATION! It sounds so much like the bashing and ridiculous memes they are posting under DJT's name. Juvenile, bullying and just plain abusive. STAY STRONG ELLIE! You have more people behind you than they will ever have. You have done so much for survivors of Epstein, et al and because of this for survivors of the nameless, faceless abusers that are not rich and/or powerful. It makes us feel we are not alone....most know that on some level but to actually have someone pay attention when our own relatives, even those in law enforcement, did nothing. It makes us feel validated. Thank you ELLIE for all you do and thank you DAWN for connecting the dots that, I'm sure, you and I are not the only ones to have done so!

Michael Cohen was "Trump's #1 and Fixer."

I can't imagine what actions he took for Trump and I do believe Cohen will stretch whatever limit that will serve him. Sad.

Also, I can't imagine what he knows regarding Trump, His Family, Associates, Business Dealings. What does he know about Epstein and Epstein Class?

Too many people will do whatever it takes to profit themselves. We will see many more vicious attacks on Independent Media. It is only the beginning. I fear.

We must demand Character, Transparency and Accountability going forward. And position strong leaders who will create the change America needs (now).

Americans deserve better.

Yes @Dawn Cali those demands are the minimum we should accept. Anybody withholding information, refusing to tell the truth until it's to their advantage, keeping evidence under wraps until it suits them to reveal it as 'breaking news' - these are akin to stabbing the survivors in their backs and will not be tolerated. I don't accept that these people are keeping quiet from fear of litigation - if they tell the truth they have nothing to fear surely? In any case, it's the child victims, past present and future, whose needs are paramount and must always be front and centre in decision making. Gifting off survivors is unconscionable and morally reprehensible - anyone who does this will see their careers and reputations plummeting, and deservedly so.

She has not left. The only thing she has left is a lot of misinformation concerning where she is and how she is. I read she tried to go to Mexico, but did not qualify for permanent residency, so she and her son moved to a new location in NM . Her followers keep sharing different info. I personally think she gains security by keeping people guessing.

Correct, I have not received any photos from her illustrating she has relocated to Mexico. All I know is what I read, sometime last month I think. She said she had been denied residency in Mexico based on her main income being from Substack. That income source did not qualify . And to make a long story short, she said she had purchased 2 acres in NM. The property has 2 mobile homes- one for her son and one for herself. She stated she is the executor of her father's estate and has guardianship over his care- he is living in a facility for individuals with dementia or something like that. :). ????? To me, it doesn't matter. If she is still in need of medical care, I hope she has found it regardless of where she is. Do you remember when Greenwald relocated to Brazil after exposing the Ed Snowden story. I don't know, but I think he is still in Brazil and Snowden is stuck in Russia. The difference here is that The gov was knowingly in pursuit of Snowden and Greenwald, whereas, no gov. Agency has been identified concerning Alysa. No violations of information disclosure has been officially declared. So, as far as I'm concerned there's a lot that needs clarification. Thanks for the info, I'm trying to follow her.)

I guess she doesn't approve of my opinions, as of yesterday she has completely blocked me from all of her accounts. I won't be seeing anymore photos. As it was, I only saw two , one of which was nothing more than a plate of food at a restaurant . Hate to say it, but I was going to do a reverse image search to see if it didn't come from the internet collection of generic images. Yeah, I question everything , which isn't much to her liking. But, she kind of opened that door herself with all the mystery implications and leading people on, which of course makes for a great future novel , if the followers buy into it. Such is my opinion- it's not very popular :).

Truly sorry. If it were I, I would not respond to online bullying or threats. Ever. I think that hypes them up and eggs them on. It's a reward to be noticed and taken seriously.

I have a costume that I put together...the ghost of Jeffrey Epstein. He's somewhat locally famous, as I take him out to our local market square on occasion and use him at local indivisible protests. I never expected to be using that effigy for this long.

One time on the market Square, this man on a bicycle was riding around in the square (not allowed) and he rides up toward me as I was standing on the elevated stage and hollers out "who cares?" He even gestured by shrugging his shoulders, and then he said it again. (I'm a survivor...multiple.) The Jeff mask came off and I hollered back at him, "Come up here and say that to my face, motherfucker." (Not suggesting you should follow suit.) He rode away like the coward that he is.

I've been threatened by another man twice while wearing the Jeff costume. He carries a side arm (Tennessee). Last time he saw me, he said, "You need to be put in an insane asylum." I took it personally because, as I'm sure you know, committing people against their will is part of the current right wing agenda.

Anyway, the mask came off again. He was walking with a bunch of his buddies...young, beefy, corn fed boys. They walked ahead of me quickly as I verbally accosted them, so scared of this limpy, overweight, white-haired 67 year old woman. Lots of people around to witness it all, so safe. The boy that threatened me turned his head back toward me and whined for me to leave them alone. LOL.

Point of all this is, most of the time these are bullies who feel safe hiding behind the Internet or something else. Please take it seriously, though. You have kids. They need you. Never second guess yourself when it comes to safety. Better to be wrong and embarrassed than right and harmed.

The best thing you could do, Ellie? Make these threats and harassments PUBLIC after collecting all your evidence! You did the right thing by telling us all. I am very proud of you!

BTW, don't expect "authorities" do do anything to protect people like us. That's not what patriarchal authorities do for women.

This out-of-whack online stalking, dissing and threatening is what happens to females - whether journalists, politicians, elected officials, business-owners - to any women who raise their voices in the public sphere.

This is our patriarchy in action. Journalists unions have reported on this phenomenon. So has the UN, among other human rights institutions.

Yes, Alisa Valdes-Rodriguez decided the best was to stay public about threats. I think Sarah Kendenzior agreed with that.

I think it's more than attention-seeking and I'm so sorry you have to deal with this. Same for Kait, if that happens. But maybe be as public as you can. That's what people, more expert than I am, seem to say.

I'm going to go the opposite way here. You don't need to defend yourself, especially to this person. Say what you need to say publicly. Responding privately just feeds the fire. These kinds of people crave attention. Starve them.

There's a time to walk away, and then there's a time to take a stand. A bully only picks on someone they feel is weaker than them. Food for thought.

♡ LIKE (3) ↻ REPLY (1) ↗ SHARE

 Karenka M · Karenka M · 2d ...

In my view a bully only feels powerful if they get a response. They need to feel noticed; it feeds their misplaced anger and allows it to flourish. Without oxygen, the validation this person craves reaps no reward.

If I've read things correctly, this person has fallen out with so many people within the Epstein community, obviously aggrieved by something you and I, and particularly Ellie, may never understand. And that's very telling. It demonstrate two things: either he shares his irrational behaviour between many people at the same time, or he focuses all his attention on one person, before eventually moving on to another.

If it's the latter, it suggests Ellie is the latest in a long line of "victims" and it won't be long before someone else takes her place.

I do hope that's the case.

I'm no psychologist, but staying schtum makes a person feel irrelevant, and that's not a position they'll feel comfortable with.

Just something to consider: as someone in the legal field very familiar with women's issues, it is often to your advantage to make a police report and any other official document you can, even though you know that nothing about it will stop him in this moment. Those officers you mentioned with some connection to you would be an excellent place to start. An official report gets documented digitally, which gets connected digitally to every other report about a person. You never know when some digital connection might lead to some other connection that might be really important in the future. It might also protect you in the future as you will have demonstrated the pattern that he is establishing. I know it's cold comfort, but I hope you'll consider it. Not knowing all the details, I won't say it's best for you; only you can make that assessment about your safety. Best wishes to you 🍀

Thank you for the context of Marilyn Thompson and Mitchell Black. I saw your other post earlier about your Substack paying the bills and putting food in your kids mouths. I totally get it. I stayed in a job at a company I detested for eight years because my children did not deserve to be homeless. I eventually cut ties with them and found a new job six months later. We did not end up homeless, but I became a regular at the local food pantries. That's a whole other nightmare, trust me. The point is this. I will always be in your corner. It is through your work, Dean's work, Zev's work, and many others' that people will figure out there is one common denominator in all of this over the last 30+ years. Jeffrey Epstein and his bff, D/T, Theil and Vought were on the flight logs for Pete's sake...both are architects of Project 2025. They created the cabal and projected at their targets. And when the financial trail can be completely exposed, it's going to make Watergate look like nothing.

You are doing important work. This is one paid subscriber who's not going anywhere. Hoping you get a book deal soon for "Death of a Mayfly". Be true to yourself. And trust your instincts. We believe in you.

Atta girl Ellie! You can't keep living in fear, that's what he wants, but you can continue to be cautious. I only had a small 2-community newspaper, but I had stalkers, had my tires slashed, and had board meetings held (on live camera) to call me a liar. I stood up to them, proved my validity, and had some powerful people watching my back. It still was difficult, especially when you have kids. It's one thing they come after you, but that threat to your children is the hardest to take. You have always been open and truthful. You back your stories with proven facts.
